By the time you notice America’s doctor shortage, it will be too late.

America is running out of doctors. It began 15 years ago when Congress capped the number of federally supported residency training positions for new doctors. Now we’re facing a projected shortage of 90,000 doctors—from primary care physicians to surgeons to specialists for children—by 2020. Becoming a doctor takes time. We need to take action now.

It’s up to Congress to fix this problem. Tell Congress to lift the cap on doctor training.

America needs more doctors.

Welcome to San Francisco!

Set against the backdrop of the 2012 general election, this meeting is the single best forum for our community to engage in meaningful discussions focused on shaping the future of health care. Whether you are a current or future medical school or teaching hospital leader, faculty member, administrator, resident, or medical student, there is something for every interest among the hundreds of sessions in this program. You also can connect with more than 4,000 academic medicine professionals from around the nation. Great things can happen when people whose paths might not ordinarily cross get to talking!

Tackling our community’s biggest challenges will require a spirit of innovation, a theme you will see running through this program. Here are some highlights:

- Keynote speaker Walter Isaacson, president and CEO of the Aspen Institute and acclaimed biographer of such giants of innovation as Steve Jobs and Albert Einstein, will explore Einstein’s mind and the power of creativity and imagination as they relate to our mission areas.

- This year’s meeting features an “Innovation Arc”—three plenary sessions designed to open your mind to new possibilities and embrace new visions, new approaches, and new insights. Eric Topol, M.D., Salman Khan, and John Kao, M.D., bestselling authors and thought leaders from the technology, education, and policy arenas, will share how their impressive work can help us across medical education, research, and patient care.

- Innovation means trying new things, which is why we have introduced block programming this year in direct response to your feedback. Notice that all sessions begin and end at the same time and session times do not overlap, making it easier for you to make the best use of your time here.

- We also have listened to you and extended this year’s Town Hall Meeting to a full 90 minutes. We look forward to engaging in meaningful dialogue with you. Bring questions!

- Be sure to join us Tuesday evening to take advantage of San Francisco’s West Coast location and watch as election results roll in from across the country.

San Francisco is a hub for innovative organizations and imaginative people, making it the perfect location for the 2012 AAMC Annual Meeting. We are pleased you could join us.

What’s New This Year?

An Easier Way to Navigate All the Sessions and Events

The strength of the AAMC Annual Meeting is the diversity of sessions and perspectives—attendees have told us that it is difficult to choose which sessions to attend, when many of them overlap. While this meeting will still offer the array of sessions that repeat attendees have come to expect, we are introducing new block programming this year in direct response to your feedback. This means that *concurrent sessions will start and end at the same time and session times will not overlap, making it easier for you to fit in as much as you possibly can. Choosing among the many valuable offerings will still be a challenge though, so be sure to download our mobile app to create or update your schedule.

*Note that some committee and small affiliate group meetings do not adhere to the block program schedule.

More Information in the Mobile Application

This year, the printed final program contains only the name, date, time, and location of each session. The online schedule planner and the mobile app contain detailed session descriptions and speaker information for each session, and allow you to search for sessions by sponsor, track and keyword.

The mobile app also features other general information, facility floor plans, session evaluations, exhibitor information, and the ability to connect with other attendees. Download it now!

Session Tracks

Many sessions have been classified into one of ten program tracks. Track codes are listed next to session names in the program. Use the session track key at the bottom of the program pages to identify the codes. You can also search by track in the mobile app.

Session Feedback

We want to hear from you! Using our mobile app, you can now provide instant feedback on sessions you attend. Navigate to the session description, choose Rate This Session and answer 4 quick questions. We thank you in advance for your input.

Speaker Ready Room

If you are speaking at a session taking place at Moscone West or the Marriott Marquis, you will need to visit the speaker ready room in advance of your session to provide a copy of your presentation. All presentations will be collected in the speaker ready room, and your presentation will be pre-loaded onto the computer in your session room.

Please visit the speaker ready room at least one hour prior to the start of your session. Technicians will be available to receive your presentation during the hours listed below. Presentations will not be loaded directly onto the computers in the room, so it is essential that you stop by the speaker ready room. Both PC and Mac computers will be available for you to review and/or make changes to your presentation before providing it to the technicians.

Meetings on the Fly

Monday, 5:00–6:00
Marriott Marquis

Is there a topic of interest that you don’t see in the program? Convene a “Meeting on the Fly.” Sign up in the AAMC Connect area at the Convention Center.

A number of meeting rooms are available for one-hour meetings at the Marriott Marquis on Monday at 5:00. Rooms will be reserved on a first-come, first-served basis. Those interested in attending these meetings do not need to sign up; just check out the topics in the AAMC Connect area and show up to the designated meeting room.

Music and Medicine

Monday, 6:00-7:30
Marriott Marquis (Yerba Buena Salon 7)

It’s well accepted that music and health are intertwined and can be mutually beneficial. Join us for this inspirational event where Rob Kapilow, together with the St. Lawrence String Quartet, will present Beethoven’s Heiliger Dankgesang, String Quartet No. 15 in A minor, Op. 132 (“From Illness to Health”) along with a discussion of how Beethoven used his illness as a font of creativity in composing this work.

Election Night Gathering

Tuesday, 6:00–9:00
Marriott Marquis (Yerba Buena Salons 1-6)

Please join your colleagues to watch as 2012 U.S. Presidential Election results roll in from across the country.

My CME

If you pre-registered for the My CME program, please check your email for a message sent shortly before the meeting from Shaina Posternock, which contains information that will allow you to track your attendance at CME sessions throughout the meeting. The email also contains instructions for submitting your objectives, session attendance, and evaluation (required to receive credit) online.

If you have not registered for CME credit, but would like to, please stop by registration at Moscone West to pay the $50 CME fee and get your CME materials. Once the meeting has concluded, you will no longer be able to register for CME credit.

Sessions eligible for CME are noted in the program.
Consent to Use of Photographic Images

Registration and attendance at, or participation in, the AAMC Annual Meeting constitutes an agreement by the registrant to AAMC’s use and distribution (both now and in the future) of the registrant or attendee’s image or voice in photographs, videotapes, electronic reproductions and audiotapes of such events and activities.

Keynote Address
From Einstein to Jobs—Creativity, Leadership, and Change
Walter Isaacson • Biographer • President and CEO, The Aspen Institute

Isaacson spent two years working on the only authorized biography of Apple co-founder Steve Jobs, based on more than 40 interviews with Jobs himself—as well as conversations with at least 100 family members, friends, adversaries, competitors, and colleagues. His biographies of historical figures lend insight into how the lessons of their lives remain relevant today. In his keynote address, Isaacson will bring us closer to these legends, covering the common traits they share and how their successes can empower today’s leaders. Sharing intriguing details of how success came to each of these men through questioning conventional wisdom and exploring new ideas, Isaacson provides an astute analysis of timeless leadership principles and how we all can cultivate the creativity necessary to compete in today’s evolving, challenging health care marketplace.

In addition to sharing details from the extraordinary lives of those he has researched, Isaacson offers observations and wisdom earned through more than two decades of journalistic experience.

Now president and CEO of the Aspen Institute, a nonpartisan educational and policy studies organization based in Washington, D.C., Isaacson also has served as the chairman and CEO of CNN and the chairman of the Broadcasting Board of Governors, which oversees Voice of America, Radio Free Europe, and other international broadcasts from the United States. He is vice-chair of Partners for a New Beginning, a public–private group tasked with forging ties between the United States and the Muslim world, and serves on the board of United Airlines, Tulane University, and the Overseers of Harvard University. After Hurricane Katrina, from 2005 to 2007, he was the vice-chair of the Louisiana Recovery Authority. Additionally, he is the chairman of the board of Teach for America.
This year’s meeting features an “Innovation Arc”—three plenary sessions designed to open our minds to new possibilities and shift AAMC-member institutions toward:

Saturday, 3:15-4:30 p.m.

New Visions

Eric J. Topol, M.D.
Cardiologist • Genetic Researcher • Director of the Scripps Translational Science Institute • Author, The Creative Destruction of Medicine: How the Digital Revolution Will Create Better Health Care

Eric Topol, named most influential physician executive in health care 2012 by Modern Healthcare, is author of The Creative Destruction of Medicine: How the Digital Revolution Will Create Better Health Care. Listen and learn as he describes how digital technology can (and should) be used to tear down and rebuild the practice of medicine for a stronger focus on the patient.

Dr. Topol is director of the Scripps Translational Science Institute, where he is dedicated to training new generations of physicians and scientists for research-based careers, bringing together the latest scientific findings and clinical work for more effective medical research. He is Professor of Genomics, the Scripps Research Institute, and Co-Founder and Vice-Chairman of the Board of West Wireless Health Institute (WWHI), a wireless medicine institute. He serves as Chief Academic Officer of Scripps Health and was elected to the Institute of Medicine, National Academy of Sciences.

In February, Dr. Topol was profiled in the AAMC Reporter.

Sunday, 8:00-9:00 a.m.

New Approaches

Salman Khan
Founder of Khan Academy

Sal Khan, founder of Khan Academy, has been credited with revolutionizing education, making it simple, granular, and free. As he describes his own transformation from hedge fund broker to one of TIME’s 100 most influential people in 2012, you are sure to wonder, how can we learn from Khan to improve medical education?

What began as a simple attempt to help a family member has turned into the most compelling example of how education and technology can be innovatively combined, Khan Academy now offers more than 3,200 instructional videos. The site has received more than 41 million unique visitors, and more than 161 million lessons have been delivered. Founded as a nonprofit organization, Khan Academy’s mission is simple: a free, world-class education for anyone, anywhere.

Monday, 3:30-4:30 p.m.

New Insights

John Kao, M.D.
Author • Chair, Institute for Large-Scale Innovation

John Kao is chair of the Institute for Large-Scale Innovation, which promotes innovation as a social agenda. Discover how he helps the world’s most prominent companies generate ingenuity—and how you can do the same in your own organization.

Dr. Kao was a member of the Harvard Business School faculty from 1982–96, where he created executive and MBA programs on innovation. He wrote Jamming: The Art and Discipline of Business Creativity, a BusinessWeek bestseller, and Innovation Nation, about America’s growing innovation challenge.

Currently, Dr. Kao serves as director of the Bay Area Science and Innovation Consortium, is a founding member of Cisco System’s Innovation Commission, and chair of the Global Advisory Council on Innovation of the World Economic Forum. He is contributing editor to The Daily Beast’s innovation channel. He is also a director of TwoFour54, a Mubadala company, and Phylotech, a company that bridges cleantech and life sciences.

Thought Leader Sessions (Monday, 10:00-11:30 a.m.)
Five opinion leaders will speak on issues of importance to our community. These simultaneous sessions will be recorded and available on our Web site following the meeting.

Jordan J. Cohen Lecture • Moscone West 3014/3016
In Search of a Remedy: Law, Politics, and the Struggle over Health Care Reform

Paul Starr, Ph.D.
Professor, Princeton University • Pulitzer Prize-Winning Author

Known for his blend of idealism and pragmatism, Paul Starr is one of the country’s most eloquent speakers on politics, social trends and public policy. He is uniquely qualified to speak on the history and the future of healthcare in America. In his most recent book, Remedy and Reaction: The Peculiar American Struggle over Health Care Reform, Paul examines the history of America’s struggle over health care reform, from the rise and fall of the Clinton health plan to Mitt Romney’s reforms in Massachusetts that became a model for democrats and the passage of President Obama’s health care package. Paul’s previous book on healthcare is the 1984 Pulitzer Prize-winning, The Social Transformation of American Medicine, a history of the American health care system.

Dr. Starr is a Professor of Sociology and holds the Stuart Chair in Communications and Public Affairs, Woodrow Wilson School, at Princeton University.

He is co-editor of The American Prospect, a liberal quarterly about politics, policy, and ideas that he founded with journalist Robert Kuttner and former Labor Secretary Robert Reich.

Robert G. Petersdorf Lecture • Moscone West 3018/3020
Innovation Redesigned: Optimizing Invention Within the System of Science

Roberta B. Ness, M.D., M.P.H.
Dean, The University of Texas School of Public Health • Author

Roberta Ness, a recognized expert in women’s health research, became dean of The University of Texas School of Public Health in 2008. Dr. Ness also holds the M. David Low Chair in Public Health, is a professor in the Division of Epidemiology and Disease Control, and Vice President for Innovation at The University of Texas Health Science Center at Houston. She is a member of the Institute of Medicine of the National Academies of Science, a fellow of the American College of Physicians and past-President of the American College of Epidemiology. She is President-Elect of the American Epidemiological Society.

Dr. Ness has been at the forefront of women’s health research, being one of the first to propose the research paradigm now termed “gender based biology” in her book entitled, Health and Disease among Women (1999). In her most recent book, Innovation Generation (2012), which is based on the highly successful program she developed at the UT School of Public Health, she provides the tools needed to think “outside the box.” This book and the course provide proven techniques to expand the ability to generate original ideas, which will help scientists develop new strategies to prevent many common chronic diseases.

Dr. Ness is a frequent advisor to the National Institutes for Health, the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, the Agency for Healthcare Research and Quality, and the Department of Defense. She has taken part in several Institute of Medicine, National Academies’ reports.

In January, Dr. Ness authored the AAMC Reporter’s Viewpoint column, “Creating Innovation Incubators.”

John A.D. Cooper Lecture • Moscone West, 3022/3024
Beyond Competency: Educating the Soul of the Physician

Rachel Naomi Remen, M.D.

Rachel Naomi Remen is one of the earliest pioneers of Relationship Centered Care and Integrative Medicine and among the first to recognize the role of meaning and spirit in sustaining health and recovering from illness.

Dr. Remen is Clinical Professor of Family and Community Medicine at the University of California School of Medicine and the designer and Director of the The Healer’s Art curriculum, presently taught annually in 71 medical schools nationwide and schools in 7 countries abroad. She is Founder and Director of the Institute for the Study of Health and Illness at Commonweal, a 22 year old professional development program for graduate physicians, nurses and other health professionals who wish to revitalize and renew their commitment to their profession and its core values. In recognition of her work in professional and patient education she is the recipient of four honorary degrees and numerous awards including the Bravewell Award and delivered the Gold Lecture at the 2003 AAMC Annual Meeting.

Dr. Remen is the author the New York Times best-selling books Kitchen Table Wisdom and My Grandfather’s Blessings, presently translated and published in 22 languages. As a master storyteller, keynoter and public speaker she has reminded many thousands of physicians, medical students and patients of their service intention and their power to heal. Dr. Remen has a 60 year personal history of Crohn’s disease and her work is a unique blend of the viewpoints of patient and physician.

Tomorrow’s Doctor’s, Tomorrow’s Cures: Yesterday’s Prices

Mark D. Smith, M.D., M.B.A.
President and Chief Executive Officer
California HealthCare Foundation (CHCF)

Dr. Mark Smith has been President and Chief Executive Officer of the California HealthCare Foundation (CHCF) since its founding in 1996. CHCF is an independent philanthropy headquartered in Oakland, California dedicated to improving the health of the people of California with special concern for the underserved.

A board-certified internist, Smith is a member of the clinical faculty at the University of California, San Francisco and an attending physician at the Positive Health Program (for AIDS care) at San Francisco General Hospital. He is a member of the Institute of Medicine, National Academy of Sciences and chairs the Committee on the Learning Healthcare System in America. He has served on the Performance Measurement Committee of the National Committee for Quality Assurance, the Board of the National Business Group on Health, and the Editorial Board of the Annals of Internal Medicine.

Smith received a Bachelor’s degree in Afro-American Studies from Harvard College, an MD from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, and an MBA, with a concentration in Health Care Administration, from the Wharton School at the University of Pennsylvania.

Diversity and Health in California: Lessons for the 21st Century

David E. Hayes-Bautista, Ph.D.
Professor of Medicine
Director, Center for the Study of Latino Health & Culture (CESLAC)
UCLA David Geffen School of Medicine

David Hayes-Bautista is considered by many to be the preeminent Latino scholar in the United States. He is currently Professor of Medicine and Director of the Center for the Study of Latino Health and Culture, (CESLAC) at the David Geffen School of Medicine, UCLA. Dr. Hayes-Bautista’s research focuses on the dynamics and processes of the health of the Latino population using both quantitative data sets and qualitative observations. The CESLAC combines these research interests with teaching of medical students, residents and practicing providers to manage the care of a Latino patient base effectively, efficiently and economically.

Dr. Hayes-Bautista also serves as faculty director of the Latino Leadership Institute of the UCLA Anderson Graduate School of Management. The institute is a professional development program that allows Latinos in leadership roles to explore management issues from a Latino and Hispanic perspective.

His publications appear in Family Medicine, the American Journal of Public Health, Family Practice, Medical Care and Salud Pública de México. A sought-after expert on Latino health, Dr. Hayes-Bautista appears frequently on print, radio, and television interviews and gives dozens of presentations a year. He has authored 9 books on Latino health and culture, and is a frequent contributor of opinion pieces to major newspapers such as The New York Times.

Political Spotlight (Tuesday, 8:00 – 9:00 a.m.) • Moscone West Ballroom

Dan Schnur
Director of the Jesse M. Unruh Institute of Politics
University of Southern California

Dan Schnur is the Director of the Jesse M. Unruh Institute of Politics at the University of Southern California, where he works to motivate students to become active in the world of politics and encourage public officials to participate in the daily life of USC.

For years, Dan was one of California’s leading political and media strategists, whose record includes work on four presidential and three gubernatorial campaigns. Schnur served as the national Director of Communications for the 2000 presidential campaign of U.S. Senator John McCain and spent five years as chief media spokesman for California Governor Pete Wilson. In 2010, Schnur was appointed as Chairman of the California Fair Political Practices Commission, a position he held through that year’s elections and until spring of 2011.

In addition to his position at USC, Schnur is an Adjunct Instructor at the University of California at Berkeley’s Institute of Governmental Studies. Schnur has also held the post of Visiting Fellow at the John F. Kennedy School of Government’s Institute of Politics at Harvard University and taught an advanced course in political campaign communications at George Washington University’s Graduate School of Political Management. He writes regular political commentary for the Washington Post, the New York Times, and the Politico websites, and has also been an analyst and political commentator for CNN, MSNBC, Fox News, and National Public Radio.

2012 Innovation in Medical Education (IME) Exhibits

The Innovations in Medical Education (IME) Exhibits have taken place for the past 36 years during the AAMC Annual Meeting. The exhibits provide a forum for the exchange of ideas and activities in medical education and encourage communication among colleagues. Participants are invited to exhibit works still in progress and innovations recently introduced, as well as established projects or components of the medical school curriculum.

For full exhibit descriptions, visit www.aamc.org/annualmeeting.
