Michely Ribeiro represents the National Health Council for the Black Population and serves as a representative for the Lai Lai Network – Black Population and HIV. Her degree is in psychology with a focus on social psychology. Her work focuses on the development and strengthening of National Health Policies for Equity, especially for the black population, women, youth, and HIV prevention.