Table B: Average Full-time Faculty Promotions by Medical School, Rank, and Sex, Academic Years 2015–2016 Through 2018–2019

The table below shows the average number and percentage of full-time faculty who were promoted at a medical school per year during academic year 2015–2016 through academic year 2018–2019. Data are reported to the Faculty Roster voluntarily on a rolling basis by medical schools throughout the year and thus reflect school-to-school differences in timeliness and consistency of reporting. As a result, comprehensive counts of promotions in academic year 2018–2019 could not be calculated for all medical schools. For those medical schools whose Faculty Roster data are not comprehensive through June 30, 2019, the average number and percentage of promotions were calculated for academic year 2015–2016 through academic year 2017–2018.

Notes

* The Faculty Roster data for these medical schools are not comprehensive through June 30, 2019, so the averages were calculated for academic year 2015–2016 through academic year 2017–2018.

** Promotion data are not reported for medical schools that received accreditation after June 30, 2015.

The table does not include faculty with unreported sex (n = 6).

As an example of how to interpret this table, the 1.8 figure for South Alabama under Average Women Promotions to Associate Professor indicates that an average of 1.8 full-time women faculty per year were promoted to Associate Professor at the University of South Alabama College of Medicine between academic year 2015–2016 and academic year 2018–2019, which represents 35% of the total average full-time faculty promotions to Associate Professor per year at the University of South Alabama College of Medicine during the same time period (5.1).
