

Ad Hoc Group Weekly Round Up

December 9, 2019

Each week, the Ad Hoc Group Weekly Round Up will feature hashtags and/or tweets (follow us at @fundNIH) suggested by members of the National Institutes of Health (NIH) advocacy community. We encourage all readers who are active on social media to use these messages, and we welcome suggestions from the community for future issues of the Weekly Round Up. Here is this week's featured tweet:

Appropriators Continue Work on FY 2020 Ahead of December 20 Deadline

Appropriations Committee leadership December 4 announced plans for subcommittees to finalize each of the 12 individual FY 2020 spending bills by December 6, including the Labor-HHS spending bill to provide funding for the NIH. Subcommittee leaders were also instructed to submit a list of any remaining "unresolved issues" so that Congressional leaders can determine how to move forward in advance of the December 20 expiration of the current continuing resolution.

House Appropriations Committee Chair Nita Lowey (D-N.Y.) was quoted on December 6 as saying the House could begin voting on final FY 2020 spending bills the week of December 9, however no additional updates on FY 2020 progress have emerged following a weekend of negotiations (CQ, subscription required).

R&D Community Sends Letter to Appropriations Leaders

The Ad Hoc Group for Medical Research joined over 160 other members of the broader research and development (R&D) community in a December 4 letter urging Congressional leadership to work together in finalizing FY 2020 spending bills quickly. The letter, coordinated by the American Association for the Advancement of Science and the American Society for Microbiology, highlights that "uncertainty created by short and long-term [CRs] has severe consequences for science and research" and calls on lawmakers to "work in a bipartisan manner and without delay to complete work on the FY 2020 spending bills so that we can continue to lead the world in science and innovation and improve the health, security and economic strength of our nation."

HIVMA Clinical Fellowship Program Application Open

The HIV Medicine Association awards grants to support one-year of HIV clinical training to up to two fellows per year. Grants are made to the institution to support the fellow's stipend, to offset administrative costs, and to provide for additional educational opportunities. One of the program's goals is to increase the diversity of the HIV clinical workforce particularly from populations and communities that have been disproportionately impacted by HIV. Physicians who are underrepresented in medicine or interested in working in the Southeastern US are strongly encouraged to apply. The application deadline is January 7, 2020. For more information, please contact Asha Farrah or visit the fellowship website.
